HOW THE CITY OF LOVELAND USES FESTIVALS TO GROW THEIR BRAND NATIONWIDE

— By Angelica Wedell —

Public events are one of the most effective ways a city can promote their brand, engage their residents, attract visitors and boost the local economy. Colorado's City of Loveland, for one, has furthered their recognition as America's "Sweetheart City" with innovative use of events and festivals. The city has made Valentine's Day their own with the popular Loveland Fire and Ice Festival. "This event is a great opportunity for us to showcase what makes downtown Loveland so special," said organizer Nate Webb, owner of Blazen Illuminations in a press release.

Elite Airways makes a test flight to Loveland

Airline's proving run in its new jet required by FAA

By Craig Young

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 02/09/2016 08:13:16 PM MST

Elite Airways flew one of its new, larger jets to Loveland on Tuesday in a proving run required by federal regulators.

The manager of the Fort Collins-Loveland Municipal Airport said the test flight was a good sign that the airline would continue to serve Northern Colorado.

Elite Airways started commercial air service between Loveland and Chicago-Rockford International Airport last August but discontinued the route in January with the promise to resume in the spring.

"We will definitely return to Fort Collins," said John Pearsall, president of the Maine-based airline, although he couldn't provide a specific starting date.

Pearsall said Elite still is working on adding new routes from Fort Collins-Loveland, including one to possibly Mesa, Ariz., or Las Vegas.

"We're not able to make the announcement yet, but we're very close," Pearsall said Tuesday. "This (proving run) was a key to that. We're within a week or so of making an announcement."

The airline already had seven CRJ200 twin-engine airliners that carry 50 passengers. It recently purchased four CRJ700s, which can carry 70 passengers, and was waiting for regulators' approval to begin using them on its scheduled routes.

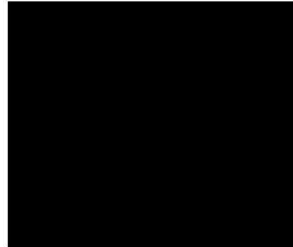

The Federal Aviation Administration had inspectors on the flight to check all aspects of the plane's operation, including the airport's ground crew, said Jason Licon, director of the airport.

"They essentially certify the airplane to be used for the airport," Licon said.

Stephen Shrift, an Elite aircraft mechanic who made the trip along with two pilots, two flight attendants and one other employee, said the five FAA inspectors put the crew through its paces, simulating problems with the aircraft and with "passengers."

Shrift said the proving run started Monday in Portland, Maine, with stops in Latrobe, Pa., Branson, Mo., and Denver. Tuesday's flight originated in Branson, he said. The plane spent an hour and 38 minutes on the ground in Loveland.

travel A Romantic Staycation

By Heidi Kerr-Schlaefter

Who says you have to travel to an exotic destination to experience a romantic getaway? There are plenty of charming options available in Northern Colorado and a short drive means extra time for romance. And best of all, you'll be back before the kids know you've gone.

The McCreery House

Currier Inn Bed & Breakfast

Victorian modern

Edwards House is located on the northwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Meldrum Street in Fort Collins. It is a boutique inn, featuring old-fashion charm alongside modern conveniences. The inn is within walking distance of downtown and the two-building property features the 1904 Edwards' family home and a renovated farmhouse that was moved from Timnath to Fort Collins.

Edwards House remained as a family home until the 1980s when it was converted into office space. In the early '90s it was transformed into a bed and breakfast and then, two years ago, it underwent another renovation. Today, the owners and staff refer to it as a boutique hotel.

"It's very similar to a bed and breakfast, but the boutique inn is less communal," says Emma Rose, guest services coordinator at Edwards House. "There isn't an owner on the premises. We do have people on call, but it's more of a hotel rather than coming to someone's home. You have a bit more privacy and there are more modern amenities than a typical bed and breakfast."

There are eight rooms at Edwards House; six in the main house and two in the farmhouse. The rooms at the inn are all large and unique, although a modern Victorian theme flows throughout. Rooms come equipped with flat screen televisions and most have a gas fireplace.

The two rooms in the farmhouse are the only rooms that haven't been renovated, but are particularly special with claw foot tubs and uniquely shaped layouts. These two rooms are also extremely private, being located in the farmhouse above the inn's conference facilities.

Throughout the week, breakfast at Edwards House is catered by Snooze, a popular Fort Collins' eatery. On the weekends the inn's conference caterer whips up delicious meals for guests.

Vintage romance

The McCreery House is a gem on a quiet street in historic, downtown Loveland. The red brick home was built at the end of the 19th century by Loveland's first Presbyterian minister, William McCreery. The property was bought 14 years ago by Linda Stotz who turned it into an events venue. Five years ago she added the bed and breakfast element to the property.

There are three rooms in the main house and a fourth room in the Carriage House. If Stotz knows in advance that a guest is booking her bed and breakfast for a romantic stay, she does not book any of the other rooms on that date allowing her guests complete privacy during their stay.

One feature of the home is a beautiful 1870s square grand piano, which is frequently used for wedding parties and others who utilize the home for events. It has even been used in a marriage proposal. For several weeks prior to his booked stay, a young man came to The McCreery House to practice a piano piece he had written for his girlfriend. He played it for her on the evening of their stay at the house and asked to marry her. This romantic story has a true happy ending—she said yes.

For couples looking to book a romantic getaway, Stotz recommends the Rose Haven. This large room with a king bed features a chaise lounge, antique furniture and Stotz's mother's 1950s Chantilly lace wedding dress. The dress has been transformed into a beautiful wall hanging.

Breakfast at The McCreery House features both sweet and savory options every morning. Stotz's croissant blueberry breakfast is her most popular entree and she says that guests always request the recipe every time she serves the dish.

"They get more food than they can handle, but I like to see them enjoy it," says Stotz.

Edwards House

A luxe stay in Greeley

Greeley may not be the first town that comes to mind when you think of a romantic stay, however, this city is one of Northern Colorado's most cultured destinations. As an example, the Greeley Philharmonic Orchestra holds the illustrious title of being the oldest philharmonic in the Rocky Mountain Region.

The Currier Inn Bed & Breakfast is located on what was referred to as Greeley's "Millionaire's Row." The street, now 9th Avenue, boasts the homes of some of the city's most famous historic families including Nathan Meeker, who founded Greeley as a colony in 1870.

The inn is named after George Currier, the man who built the house that was originally on the corner lot until it was badly burnt in the '80s. In 1996, an octagon shaped house was built as a bed and breakfast on the property. It was built to blend in with the other homes on this notable street. Originally named the Sod Buster, the inn's owners, Stephanie and Derek Boulton, renamed it when they bought the place in 2010.

Guests of the Currier Inn are greeted by a fabulous curving staircase and large open area, frequently used for weddings. There are 10 rooms at the Currier, all with their own bathrooms and flat screen televisions.

The Horace Greeley room is perfect for a romantic stay with its canopied king-size bed and jetted tub. However, two upstairs rooms feature claw foot tubs, making for an old-fashion romantic stay.

While the Inn offers a Bubbly & Berries package, Stephanie Boulton enjoys helping guests create individualized experiences. She can secure tickets to the Greeley Philharmonic Orchestra, make dinner reservations or even arrange for flowers to be delivered. She's not only the inn keeper of Currier Inn, but also her guests' concierge.

At breakfast there's always fruit with yogurt followed by a hot breakfast entree. Being English, Boulton has created a Sausage Wellington that's popular with guests, but she has standard items as well such as Eggs Benedict with choice of ham or salmon.

"You can stay here for two weeks and never get the same breakfast," says Boulton.

Valentine's Day is nearly upon us, and with it the stores are filled with frilly cards, heart-shaped boxes of chocolates, flowers galore and all of the traditional gifts that are typically found around Feb. 14. But for those who aren't looking for a typical Valentine's Day, here are 14 other ways to celebrate with the one you love (or not).

The chances of finding love on the slopes are more likely during Chairlift Speed Dating (February 13) at Black Mountain in Jackson, N.H. Single guys and girls register, and the Chairlift Speed Dating consultants will match them up by age and some other personal information for a double chair lift seven-minute ride to the top. One couple who met during Chairlift Speed Dating were later married, so there's proof that it works.

At Kripalu Center for Yoga & Health in Stockbridge, Mass., Deepening Your Love: A Retreat for Couples (February 12–15) encourages couples to identify and manage issues that all couples face: intimacy, communication, conflict and meeting each other's needs. Presenters Kate Feldman and Joel Feldman will guide guests through the weekend's programs so that they leave feeling reconnected.

Love is in full swing at the 1940s Valentine's Hangar Dance (February 13) at the Military Aviation Museum in Virginia Beach, Va. After dinner – and well into the night – the Terry Chesson Jump 'n Jive Orchestra (a full swing orchestra) will play your dance favorites. Worried your swingin' moves might be a bit dusty? Don't fret – a refresher swing dance lesson will be offered, too. Don't forget to look around at all of the museum's World War I and World War II planes on display.

Smart is sexy in Sea Island, Ga., and that's evident during Valentine's Weekend when the resort welcomes 10 thinkers and innovators from the arts, sciences and media during its third annual Creativity Conference (February 12–13). Daily lectures will feature luminaries such as Nobel Prize winning chemist Martin Chalfie, two-time Poet Laureate of the USA Billy Collins, professor and spokesperson Dr. Temple Grandin, actor and director Isabella Rossellini, and Grammy winner Loudon Wainwright III, to name but a few.

Celebrate your love in Orlando, Fla., on the Orlando Eye. The new 400-foot observation wheel is a unique place to exchange vows, and the Orlando Eye is

Find the best vacation destination for February. (Hybrid Images / Getty Images/Cultura RF)

By Lynn O'Rourke Hayes
The Dallas Morning News

FEBRUARY 8, 2016, 7:20 AM

Enjoy a sweet February holiday with your family. Here are five destinations to consider:

1.The Lodge and Spa at Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga. The Little Lovebirds package is crafted to treat your family to a special weekend in February.

Stay in a two-bedroom suite with private balconies, talk about how to spend your $100 culinary credit at the Piedmont Grille, and make good use of four tickets to the Birds of Prey exhibit at Callaway Gardens.

After a busy day, the whole clan can relax with a free family-friendly movie while the grown-ups enjoy champagne and strawberries and youngsters savor s'mores and milk. Wrap up a wonderful weekend with a soothing couples' massage for adults and manicures and pedicures for the little ones.

2.Loveland, Colo. Visit the nation's Sweetheart City for a Valentine's Day treat. Check out the free, family-friendly Loveland Fire & Ice Festival where you'll find red and white twinkling lights, ice sculptures, a carousel and horse-drawn carriage rides, a kids zone and fireworks.

Be on the lookout for giant red hearts adorned with love notes dangling from lampposts. If you bring your own valentines ready to mail, volunteers will cheerily hand-stamp them with an endearing message of local love.

Family Fun: "Sweetheart City" a steamy shindig with fire, ice

Loveland's second annual Fire & Ice Festival takes place Feb. 12-14. (Provided by Fyn Public Relations)

Friday-Sunday. Loveland would seem like the obvious place to throw a big Valentine's Day-themed event, but the "Sweetheart City's" second annual Fire & Ice Festival isn't simply coasting on its warm and fuzzy name. The free, family-friendly fest, which last year drew 25,000 people, will feature live ice sculpting, fireworks, carriage rides, fire performers, a car show, music, food and drink, and kid's activities (a carnival, a visit from "Harry Potter" actor Seamus Finnigan, etc.). The event, which bills itself as the country's largest Valentine's Day shindig, runs 5-10 p.m. Feb. 12 and 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Feb. 13-14. 800-980-4155 or lovelandfireandice.com.

In keeping with its status as the sweetheart city, Loveland is going big and bright for Valentine's Day weekend, when the Loveland Fire & Ice Festival will turn the town into a three-day, heart-filled wonderland, complete with carriage and carousel rides, live entertainment, delicious local treats, an ice-sculpting competition and more. "This is a unique outdoor festival for a unique holiday, which is really about celebrating the city of Loveland," says Nate Webb of event organizer Blazen Illuminations.

That one-of-a-kind city charm includes some surprises, starting with something special for Harry Potter fans. Paula DuPré Pesmen, associate producer for several HP films, and star Devon Murray (who plays Seamus Finnigan) will be holding question-and-answer sessions throughout the festivities, digging into the behind-the-scenes world of the movie franchise. (Pesmen is a co-founder of Colorado nonprofit and festival partner There With Care.) But the big bang comes on Sunday night, when ice artists from across the country will showcase the massive sculptures they've been working on all weekend. This invitation-only competition will see teams of artists compete for best in show around the theme "The Yin and Yang of Light and Dark."

The Loveland Fire & Ice Festival first heats up on February 12 at 5 p.m. at the Townsquare main stage, at the intersection of Fourth Street and Railroad Avenue in Loveland. Many of the weekend's events are free, and guests can get a free wristband offering discounts at retailers and restaurants throughout Loveland by visiting the festival's website. From-the-heart, Valentine's events for couples, and kids, too Loveland has long owned Valentine's Day, says Nate Webb. It's a given, with a name like Loveland.

But the city has never really owned the holiday, he says.

"We've never really taken advantage of that ownership," says Webb, an event organizer. "There have been attempts in the past, but it never culminated into something we can really, truly own in an amazing way."

Until last year, when it launched a multi-day winter festival, the Fire and Ice Festival, in downtown.

The family event includes live music, vendors, carriage rides, a carnival, car show, food and other activities set to valentine-themed lights and fireworks.

Loveland's celebration is one of many Valentine's Day events across the northern Front Range — but it's by far the biggest.

Organizers say it's the largest V-Day celebration in the state, possibly the nation.

Last year's festival was enthusiastically received, drawing an estimated 25,000 people from across the Front Range and beyond, Webb says.

He expects this year's festival to be even bigger.

For starters, it added another day, now spanning Friday, Feb. 12, through Sunday, Feb. 14. This year's event also has some new entertainment, such as fire sculptors, to go along with the ice sculptors.

The festival also strengthened its nonprofit ties and in so, has attracted celebrity guests.

Loveland's valentine beer and coffee now available

By Michelle Vendegna

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 02/01/2016 06:40:00 PM MST

Tom Helm, owner of Brewworthy Coffee, fills bags with flavored coffee beans in Berthoud Thursday. The 2016 Valentine Blend, a chocolate-covered cherry flavored coffee, is available as part of Loveland's annual Sweetheart City Valentine Program. (Michelle Bettis / Loveland Reporter-Herald)

If you want some of the special Valentine's Day beer from Grimm Brothers or some of the 2016 Valentine Blend coffee from Brewworthy Coffee, you will have to act fast. Grimm Brothers will sell out fast and it looks like this could be the last year for chocolate-covered cherry roast from Brewworthy Coffee.

Grimm Brothers released "The Bleeding Heart," a s'mores porter Monday afternoon at the brewery, 623 N. Denver Ave. It will also be distributed to liquor stores and restaurants within the Loveland city limits.

"It's not really sweet so it's a perfect beer for the winter months," said Russell Fruits, Grimm Brothers beer evangelist, "We sit down and decide as a group and then decide on recipe, we do what we feel like."

The porter is a darker beer with the taste of chocolate, graham cracker and marshmallow.

"Some of the restaurants hold off since it's so popular," said Fruits. The restaurants will decide individually when to start to serve "The Bleeding Heart." The list includes Old Chicago's, Cactus Grille, Next Door, Mo'Betta Gumbo and few more downtown.

The new beer will also get a new look as this year it will be sold in cans as Grimm Brothers no longer bottles.

The brewery will also feature the beer during a Valentine's Beer Dinner at 7 p.m. Feb. 13. The dinner includes a five-course tapas dinner and costs $35. Go to www.brownpapertickets.com for tickets.

Brunch and Brew Tours by My Big Date will have a stop at Grimm Brothers for a brunch and brew pairing on Feb. 13 and one on Feb. 14 for $99 per person. The tours stops at local shops, includes a Fire and Ice Festival walk, gift bags and transportation. The VIP tour is sold out. Go to www.valentinesdayinloveland.com.

Brewworthy Coffee has already released its 2016 Valentine Blend for the season. The blend is that same as last year, a chocolate-covered cherry blend. It is available at LoCo Artisan, 544 N.

Loveland Fire & Ice Festival packs Valentine's weekend schedule

By Michelle Vendegna

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 01/26/2016 10:07:59 PM MST

Crowds mill on Fourth Street during the first night of the 2015 Fire & Ice Festival in downtown Loveland. (Special to the Reporter-Herald)

Organizers of the Loveland Fire & Ice Festival have released the full schedule of entertainment for the event, set for Feb. 12-14 in downtown Loveland.

All events will take place along Fourth Street from Garfield to Lincoln avenues. The theme of the event is "The Yin and Yang of Light and Dark."

New this year will be an invitation-only ice sculpting contest in which teams will have 20 blocks of ice to turn into sculptures that portray the event theme. Teams will also have the challenge of being picked at random to create an additional piece at other locations in the festival.

A couple of other new features are a Food Truck Food Court at the end of Fourth Street along Railroad Avenue along with an artisan market and a Family Fair with games and a carousel.

Hearts & Horses, Veterans Plaza and There with Care will be the three nonprofits to be highlighted to bring awareness to their causes. Hearts & Horses (www.heartsandhorses.org) is a Loveland nonprofit that offers therapeutic horseback riding. Veterans Plaza (veteransplazanoco.org) in Fort Collins is used to teach children and adults about military heroes and recognizes those serving in the armed forces presently. There with Care (therewithcare.org) provides services for children and families dealing with a critical illness in the Denver metro area as well as Boulder and Broomfield counties.

There will be four stages on Fourth Avenue for entertainment, Townsquare Media Main Stage at Fourth Street and East Railroad Avenue; Hearts & Horses/Family Fair Stage between Jefferson and Lincoln Avenues; There With Care/Rialto Block Stage, between Lincoln and Cleveland Avenues; and Veterans Plaza/Food Truck Food Court Stage, between West Railroad and Garfield Avenues.

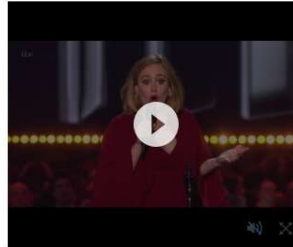

For updates on the event and more information, got to lovelandfireandice.com.

'Harry Potter' actor, producer to visit Loveland Fire & Ice Festival

Meet and greet will benefit charity

By Pamela Johnson

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 01/05/2016 01:29:01 PM MST

A splash of Harry Potter will bring some added magic to Loveland's Fire & Ice Festival this Valentine's Day.

Paula DuPré Pesmen, associate producer for the first three Harry Potter films, will participate in a meet-and-greet and Irish actor Devon Murray, who played Seamus Finnigan, in the series will participate question and answer session as part of the downtown festival, Feb. 12-14, to raise money for charity.

In addition, a Colorado-owned Ford Anglia — exactly like the one the Weasley family flies in the Harry Potter movies — will land at the event's car show for all to see.

"It's going to be pretty neat," said Heidi Webb of Blazen Illuminations, which produces the festival that drew 25,000 people to downtown Loveland in 2015 during its first year.

The event will feature an ice sculpting contest, light displays, fireworks, live music, horse drawn carriage rides, a car show and metal sculpting throughout the downtown area. The overall event is free, though there are charges for some portions including food and a new ticketed carousel.

The event also will raise money for three charities — Hearts and Horses, Veterans Plaza and There With Care. Specifics for the fundraisers for the Loveland based therapeutic riding program and the Fort Collins Veterans Plaza are still being ironed out.

For There With Care, the actor and producer from Harry Potter will meet with residents for donations to help the charity that helps families with children facing critical illness.

"They take care of families dealing with illness," said Webb. "They do dishes, laundry, take care of oil changes" and other things to ease the burden on families.

DuPré Pesmen founded the nonprofit after her husband, Curt, was diagnosed with cancer and she experienced firsthand the daily challenges her family faced during treatment and after meeting a terminally ill child who visited the Harry Potter set as a wish.

From that first wish, the effort grew and more than 65 critically ill children visited the movie set and met with the actors.

Then, in 2005, DuPré Pesmen left her film career and started There With Care, which is based on the Colorado Front Range.

Specific times that she and Murray will be at the festival and details, including whether tickets will be required, are still being worked out and should be announced soon.

Ice sculpture teams keep their cool in warm weather

Loveland's Fire and Ice Festival wrapped up Sunday

By Michelle Vendegna

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 02/14/2016 08:30:50 PM MST

Joshua Weiner of Loveland works on an ice sculpture during the Fire and Ice Festival Sunday morning. (Michelle Vendegna/Reporter-Herald Staff)

With temperatures well above freezing, the ice sculpture artists had their work cut for them this weekend at Loveland's Fire and Ice Festival. Five teams competed over the Valentine's Day weekend.

"It makes it very challenging. We have to use past competitions to adapt and react the best we can," said Jess Parrish of Longmont. He is one of three members of the Cool Hand team from Berthoud. He was joined by team captain Angelito Bahan and Johanna Parrish. The team uses tools such as tarps and dry ice to protect the sculptures from the sun.

"We knocked over the same piece two or three times (Saturday)," said Margo Jerkowitz from the Snice team. With the warmer weather the ice had a hard time sticking together. Her teammate was Keith Martin. Both team members had started out as snow sculptors in Breckenridge.

There is a plus side of getting a little sun during these competition.

"We're not cold," said Lou DeAngelis of the Blizzard Boys as to what is nice about the warmer weather. His team is made up of local Loveland artists. He was joined by Jade Windell and Joshua Weiner. Everyone has to work in the same conditions so it makes the competition a bit more interesting.

The ice carving is a big draw for the festival. Nancy O'Farrell was out with her family Sunday morning to check out the festival for a second year.

"I think they just had some fun things for the kids, O'Farrell said, "and they enjoyed the ice sculptures."

POSTED: 02/09/2016 10:48:55 AM MST

LOVELAND — Larimer County Search and Rescue officials announced Tuesday morning that the nonprofit group will have an informational booth at this weekend's Loveland Fire & Ice Festival.

According to a news release from the organization, the booth will be staffed with education professionals to answer questions about outdoor safety in the back country. The booth will also hold search dog demonstrations.

LCSAR, the release stated, is an 80-person volunteer non-profit corporation that conducts professional mountain search and rescue professionals in addition to providing other resources throughout the region. The release stated the organization responds to approximately 80 emergency calls a year and spends 400 hours per person per year training, responding to incidents, fundraising and providing public education.

The organization's annual budget hovers near $40,000 and is funded mainly by donations.

Tickets still available for 'Harry Potter' events

By Michelle Vendegna

Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

POSTED: 01/21/2016 08:50:50 PM MST

The Loveland Fire and Ice Festival is getting ready to announce more of its entertainment lineup next week, but in the meantime, tickets are available for a few events.

Paula DuPre' Pesmen, associate producer of first three "Harry Potter" films, and Devon Murray, the actor who portrayed Seamus Finnigan in "Harry Potter," will take part in events on Feb. 13. "A Magical Moment," a question-and-answer session, will be at 9:30 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Cost is $27. All attendees will be automatically entered to win a Alivan's Secret Scarlett Fiction broom signed by Pesmen and Murray. "Tea Time with Devon Murray and Paula DuPre' Pesmen" which includes a traditional English-style tea party and an autographed photo with Devon Murray, is at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. with the cost of $68.

Both events will be at the Rialto Theater, 228 E. Fourth St., Loveland. Tickets are available through the Rialto box office by calling 970-962-2120 or go to www.rialthetheatercenter.org.

For all Harry Potter fans that attend the festival, there will be an opportunity to get photos with a model of a Weasley family-style car for a small donation. Donations will go to There with Care, a nonprofit that helps families dealing with critical illnesses.

Also available are free wristbands that allow for discounts at participating shops and restaurants. New this year is the online sign-up on the website.

"We are going to speed up the process as well with digital wristband so people don't have stop by the booth," said Nate Webb, co-owner of Blazen Illuminations. Attendees have an option to have the digital wristbands on their phones instead of waiting in line.

There are few new events to keep an eye out for this year such as the Family Fair with carnival games and carousel rides to benefit Hearts & Horses, the Food Truck Food Court, and the local artisans market.

The festival begins at 5 p.m. Feb. 12, and will have events through Feb. 14. On the Web: lovelandfireandice.com.

Featured Festival: Loveland Fire & Ice Festival 2016

January 29, 2016 — 2 Comments

This fire and ice extravaganza in Loveland, Colorado is an exciting event with a little something for everyone in the family.

Occurring over Valentine's Day weekend in February, it's the perfect reason to visit the Sweetheart City. The theme of the event is "The Yin & Yang of Light & Dark," and this theme will be evident throughout the three-day festival.

Fire, fire, fire at Loveland Fire & Ice Festival

This festival embraces fire in several ways. First, the sky above downtown Loveland will light up with fireworks on all three nights of the event. In addition, there will be fire performers. Fire performing has been gaining popularity in Colorado and if you haven't had the opportunity to watch a performer/dancer, it's a mesmerizing experience. There will be multiple fire artists at Loveland Fire & Ice Festival.

"Take a look at this incredible metal sculpture that we are bringing to the Loveland Fire and Ice Festival thanks to Caitlin Morris! It's going to be amazing!" ~Loveland Fire Festival on Facebook

In another nod to the fire theme, the historic buildings along Loveland's Fourth Street will be lit up in various colors.

Ice, ice baby at Loveland Fire & Ice Festival

Loveland Fire & Ice Festival features an invitational ice sculpture contest. Twenty blocks of ice will be transformed into frozen art pieces during the event and live ice sculpting is an awesome thing to behold. The awards ceremony for the ice sculpting part of the festival will be held at 7 p.m. on Sunday evening on the Main Stage.

Ault Sweetheart Lantern Festival

In the Disney movie "Tangled," princess Rapunzel and rascal Flynn realize they're in love as floating lanterns rise around them while they sing an Oscar-nominated song. Last year, the town of Ault started an event in northern Colorado to give everyone a Valentine's Day just as romantic, if a little less melodic.

The second Ault Sweetheart Lantern Festival is Feb. 13 at the Ault Fire Station, 16680 Colo. 14 in Ault. For $25, a couple can light and launch a heart-shaped paper lantern while sipping hot cocoa and munching on a holiday cookie. The event isn't just for couples, though — it's also family friendly.

Gates open at 6 p.m., and the lanterns will be released at 7 p.m. Parking will be available at Highland High School for those who want to watch the lanterns without participating.

For more information, go to www.aultlanternfestival.com, call Brenda Sterner at (970) 834-1803 or see the festival's Facebook page by searching Ault Sweetheart Lantern Festival.

Loveland Fire & Ice Festival

Loveland, known as the Sweetheart City, will host its annual Fire & Ice Festival, Feb. 12-14 in downtown Loveland. The free event features Valentine's Day-themed lighting displays, live music and entertainment, ice sculptures, fireworks shows, vendors, carriage rides and hot cocoa and s'mores stations.

According to organizers, the Loveland Fire & Ice Festival is the largest Valentine's Day celebration in the country.

For more information about the event, including how to get a discount wristband and a schedule of events, go to lovelandfireandice.com.

Valentine's Day runs

Two northern Colorado cities will host Valentine's Day themed runs over the holiday weekend. The Loveland Sweetheart Classic is Feb. 13 at Loveland High School, 920 W 29th St. in Loveland. The main event is a four-mile run around Lake Loveland, and is accompanied by a free fun run for kids.

Registration is $30. For more information, go to www.lovelandsweetheartclassic.com or call Taryn Haley at (970) 403-7025.

In Fort Collins, the Catch Me if You Can Race on Feb. 14 at Anheuser-Busch, 2351 Busch Drive, and it will feature four-mile and 10K runs. For both runs, women get a head start, and the objective for the guys is to see if they can catch the gals.

After the race, runners get a free beer.

Events, Murray, News, Producers

The Loveland Fire and Ice Festival will be held in Colorado in just over a month, and in attendance are two guests from the Harry Potter series!

Paula DuPré Pesmen – associate producer for the first three Harry Potter films – will be attending the event, and also holding a meet-and-greet. Profits from the panel will go to There With Care – a non-profit organisation based on the Colorado Front Range and created by DuPré Pesmen after her husband was diagnosed with cancer.

Devon Murray, who played Seamus Finnigan, will also hold a Q&A session, and a Ford Anglia – exactly like Mr Weasley's, minus the flying! – will be at the event's car show.

Reporter Herald gives details:

The event will feature an ice sculpting contest, light displays, fireworks, live music, horse drawn carriage rides, a car show and metal sculpting throughout the downtown area. The overall event is free, though there are charges for some portions including food and a new ticketed carousel.

The event also will raise money for three charities – Hearts and Horses, Veterans Plaza and There With Care. Specifics for the fundraisers for the Loveland based therapeutic riding program and the Fort Collins Veterans Plaza are still being ironed out.

The festival takes place February 12th-14th 2016 in Loveland, Colorado. Find out how to attend here!

CELEBRATE VALENTINE'S DAY IN THE "SWEETHEART CITY"

Did you know Loveland, Colorado is known as the Nation's Sweetheart City? I didn't. I also had no idea just how much it celebrated Valentine's Day. In fact, it's home to largest Valentine's Day celebration in the state of Colorado (and possibly the nation)!

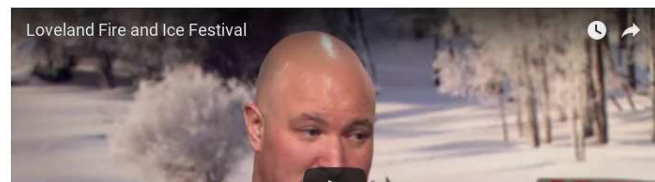

Loveland got it's hold on Valentine's Day 70 years ago when it introduced what has become the nation's largest Valentine Re-Mailing Program. This program re-mails more than 150,000 Valentine's Day cards each year from all 50 states and more than 110 countries! People send pre-addressed, pre-stamped Valentines through this northern Colorado city just so they can receive its annual romantic postmark.

But, the Nation's Sweetheart City has more to offer for Valentines than a romantic postal stamp...

Colorado's Largest Valentine's Day Festival (and possibly the nation)

From Feb. 12 – 14, you can celebrate the passion of the season at the Loveland Fire & Ice Festival where fire, ice, entertainment and fun collide. This free family-friendly event transforms downtown Loveland with Valentine-themed lights, ice sculptures, live entertainment, a spectacular fireworks show nightly and more. LOVELAND FIRE & ICE FESTIVAL

'Harry Potter' actor and producer to visit event

Meet and greet will benefit charity

By PAMELA JOHNSON
Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

A splash of Harry Potter will bring some added magic to Loveland's Fire & Ice Festival this Valentine's Day.

Paula DuPré Pesmen, associate producer for the first three Harry Potter films, will participate in a meet-and-greet and Irish actor Devon Murray, who played Seamus Finnigan, in the series will participate question and answer session as part of the downtown festival, Feb. 12-14, to raise money for charity.

In addition, a Colorado-owned Ford Anglia — exactly like the one the Weasley family flies in the Harry Potter movies — will land at the event's car show for all to see.

"It's going to be pretty neat," said Heidi Webb of Blazen Illuminations, which produces the festival that drew 25,000 people to downtown Loveland in 2015 during its first year.

The event will feature an ice sculpting contest, light displays, fireworks, live music, horse drawn carriage rides, a car show and metal sculpting throughout the downtown area. The overall event is free, though there are charges for some portions including food and a new ticketed carousel.

The event also will raise money for three charities — Hearts and Horses, Veterans Plaza and There With Care. Specifics for the fundraisers for the Loveland based therapeutic riding program and the Fort Collins Veterans Plaza are still being ironed out.

For There With Care, the actor and producer from Harry Potter will meet with residents for donations to help the charity that helps families with children facing critical illness.

"They take care of families dealing with illness," said Webb. "They do dishes, laundry, take care of oil changes" and other things to ease the burden on families.

DuPré Pesmen founded the nonprofit after her husband, Curt, was diagnosed with cancer and she experienced firsthand the daily challenges her family faced during treatment and after meeting a terminally ill child who visited the Harry Potter set as a wish.

From that first wish, the effort grew and more than 65 critically ill children visited the movie set and met with the actors.

Then, in 2005, DuPré Pesmen left her film career and started There With Care, which is based on the Colorado Front Range.

Specific times that she and Murray will be at the festival and details, including whether tickets will be required, are still being worked out and should be announced soon.

Tickets available still for 'Harry Potter' events

By MICHELLE VENDEGNA
Reporter Herald Staff Writer

The Loveland Fire and Ice Festival is getting ready to announce more of its entertainment lineup next week, but in the meantime, tickets are available for a few events.

Paula DuPre Pesmen, associate producer of first three "Harry Potter" films, and Devon Murray, the actor who portrayed Scamus Finnigan in "Harry Potter," will take part in events on Feb. 13.

"A Magical Moment," a question-and-answer session, will be at 9:30 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Cost is $27.

All attendees will be automatically entered to win a Alvan's Secret Scarlett Fiction broom signed by Pesmen and Murray. "Tea Time with Devon Murray and Paula DuPre Pesmen", which includes a traditional English-style tea party and an autographed photo with Devon Murray, is at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. with the cost of $68.

Both events will be at the Rialto Theater, 228 E. Fourth St., Loveland. Tickets are available through the Rialto box office by calling 962-2120 or go to rialthetheatercenter.org.

For all Harry Potter fans who attend the festival, there will be an opportunity to get photos with a model of a Weasley family-style car for a small donation. Donations will go to There with Care, a nonprofit that helps families dealing with critical illnesses.

Also available are free wristbands that allow for discounts at participating shops and restaurants. New this year is the ability to sign up on the website.

"We are going to speed up the process as well with digital wristband so people don't have stop by the booth," said Nate Webb, co-owner of Blazen Illuminations. Attendees have an option to have the digital wristbands on their phones instead of waiting in line.

There are few new events to keep an eye out for this year such as the Family Fair with carnival games and carousel rides to benefit Hearts & Horses, the Food Truck Food Court, and the local artisans market.

The festival begins at 5 p.m. Feb. 12, and will have events through Feb. 14. On the Web: lovelandfireandice.com.

Brews and beans with heart in Loveland

Valentine beer and coffee now available

BY MICHELLE VENDEGNA
Reporter-Herald Staff Writer

If you want some of the special Valentine's Day beer from Grimm Brothers or some of the 2016 Valentine Blend coffee from Brewsorthy Coffee, you will have to act fast. Grimm Brothers will sell out fast and it looks like this could be the last year for chocolate-covered cherry roast from Brewsorthy Coffee.

Grimm Brothers released "The Bleeding Heart," a s'mores porter Monday afternoon at the brewery, 623 N. Denver Ave. It will also be distributed to liquor stores and restaurants within the Loveland city limits. "It's not really sweet so it's a perfect beer for the winter months," said Russell Fruits, Grimm Brothers beer evangelist. "We sit down and decide as a group and then decide on recipe; we do what we feel like."

The porter is a darker beer with the taste of chocolate, graham cracker and marshmallow.

"Some of the restaurants hold off since it's so popular," said Fruits. The restaurants will decide individually when to start to serve "The Bleeding Heart." The list includes Old Chicago's, Cactus Grille, Next Door, Mo'Betta Gumbo and few more downtown.

The new beer will also get a new look as this year it will be sold in cans as Grimm Brothers no longer bottles.

The brewery will also feature the beer during a Valentine's Beer Dinner at 7 p.m. Feb. 13. The dinner includes a five-course tapas dinner and costs $35. Go to brownpapertickets.com for tickets.

Brunch and Brew Tours by My Big Date will have a stop at Grimm Brothers for a brunch and brew pairing on Feb. 13 and one on Feb.

14 for $99 per person. The tours stops at local shops, includes a Fire and Ice Festival walk, gift bags and transportation. The VIP tour is sold out. Go to valentinesdayinloveland.com.

Brewsworthy Coffee has already released its 2016 Valentine Blend for the season. The blend is that same as last year, a chocolate-covered cherry blend. It is available at LoCo Artisan, 544 N. Cleveland Ave.; Conditment Queen, 325 N. Cleveland Ave.; and the Loveland Chamber of Commerce and Visitor Center, 5400 Stone Creek Circle.

"We more than quadrupled sales from the first to the second year and this year we're set to at least double sales from last year," Tom Helm, roaster of Brewsworthy Coffee, said. This the third year for the special roast, the second for the chocolate-covered cherry. Tom plans to continue to make the coffee, which is made from beans from Columbia and Guatemala, through the end of February.

"We want to make sure that people are tasting the coffee too because the coffee is good," Tom said. "It comes from great places and wonderful people and amazing families and I don't ever want to shirk that. I think it's so important for people to realize that when they buy coffee from us, they are helping families and farms," Tom took a trip to Columbia last month to meet families and visit the farms that provide the beans. The company doesn't focus on flavored coffee; it does the Valentine Blend special for the city of Loveland each year.

"We decided to do this for the second year, but I like to say we are subject to change without notice because I want to be able to have some freedom to play with some things and to do more things," he said. Tom isn't planning on making the flavor permanent. He had plans for something different but there was overwhelming demand for the return of this flavor.

"We actually looked at a couple of flavors and one I was really excited about, and no, I am not going to tell you what it is 'cause it might happen next year."

[FESTIVAL]

HAVE A HEART

In keeping with its status as the sweet-heart city, Loveland is going big and bright for Valentine's Day weekend, when the Loveland Fire & Ice Festival will turn the town into a three-day, heart-filled wonderland, complete with carriage and carousel rides, live entertainment, delicious local treats, an ice-sculpting competition and more. "This is a unique outdoor festival for a unique holiday, which is really about celebrating the city of Loveland," says Nate Webb of event organizer Blazen Illuminations.

That one-of-a-kind city charm includes some surprises, starting with something special for Harry Potter fans. Paula DuPré Pesmen, associate producer for several HP films, and star Devon Murray (who plays Seamus Finnigan) will be holding question-and-answer sessions throughout the festivities, digging into the behind-the-scenes world of the movie franchise. (Pesmen is a co-founder of Colorado nonprofit and festival partner There With Care.) But the big bang comes on Sunday night, when ice artists from across the country will showcase the massive sculptures they've been working on all weekend. This invitation-only competition will see teams of artists compete for best in show around the theme "The Yin and Yang of Light and Dark."

The Loveland Fire & Ice Festival heats up tonight at 5 p.m. at the Townsquare main stage, at the intersection of Fourth Street and Railroad Avenue in Loveland. Many of the weekend's events are free, and guests can get a free wristband offering discounts at retailers and restaurants throughout Loveland by visiting the festival's website. For information, a complete schedule, and tickets for talks and selected events, visit lovelandfireandice.com.

With a small donation to There With Care, festival goers can also get their photo with a Colorado-owned Ford Anglia, the same model used in the films as the Weasley family's flying car.

The history of peanut butter

Peanut butter dates back to the Aztecs and the Incas. However, in 1884, Canadian Marcellus Gilmore Edson of Montreal was the first to patent peanut butter. Because people in the 1800s often had bad teeth, an American chemist named Edson promoted peanut paste as a delicious staple for people. The United States is a leading exporter of peanut butter and annually consumes $900 million worth.

Celebrate Valentine's with Fire and Ice

THE LOVELAND EVENT PROMISES FOOD TRUCKS AND FIRE PERFORMERS.

The Loveland Fire and Ice Festival returns to Loveland, Colorado on Valentine's Day weekend as part of the largest Valentines celebration in the U.S. The weekend, which includes fireworks shows, ice sculptures and live music, starts Feb. 12 in downtown Loveland. The main festival is free, but there will be ticketed events during the entire weekend.

The festival may have started last year, but event producer Nate Webb said it came from nearly a year of planning a tourist attraction for Loveland.

"It required a lot more than just... simple entertainment pieces," he said. "We wanted to activate the entire weekend."

Webb said he wanted to make an event where there were things for people to see at every turn.

"For me, I try to think about what I like," he said. "What would keep me involved when I went to a small town? I always look for... exciting things to do more targeted to small towns."

Since last year was the first time Webb could bring his Disney-like weekend festival, he's trying to make this year bigger and better.

There will be a food truck food court in the middle of the festival, for example.

There will also be a family fun fair area, which will include a 36-foot traditional carousel, as well as free horse-drawn carriages.

Along with the new additions, there will be fire performers; an ice sculpting contest; and a private tea with Devon Murray, who played Seamus Finnigan in the "Harry Every night will wrap up with a large fireworks show, not unlike Walt Disney World's nighttime shows.

Webb said he has been surprised with the event's popularity.

"We can plan as much as we want, but when people reach out to us to be involved, that's really exciting," he said. "You don't know who's going to show up."
