We Will Build It!

A 1989 Kevin Costner movie about baseball indicated that, "...if you build it, they will come." Build it, we shall.

In the summer 2008 edition Loveland's Fairways, an article stated that construction of the new Mariana Butte clubhouse may begin this fall, a full year ahead of schedule. As of the writing of this article, removal of the original clubhouse has taken place, a new temporary facility is in place, and the project is in full swing. Although the start of the project began a month later than planned, the new clubhouse should be fully operational by the projected date of May 2009, weather permitting.

The new 8,988 sq. ft. structure will feature a lounge; two dining rooms; a covered terrace off the south side of the building; a covered deck off the northwest corner, which can open to the large dining room; a full service kitchen and bar; and a new pro shop with more than 1,100 square feet of space. The exterior of the building will blend with the surrounding homes and include stucco & stone.

Golfers have made Mariana Butte the second most popular course in northern Colorado (next to The Olde Course at Loveland) and golfers will be the primary users of the clubhouse. However, because of its design and amenities, groups and individuals looking to book rooms for meetings, events, holiday gatherings, or even weddings, are encouraged to inquire about utilizing the new clubhouse.

In the meantime, it's business as usual on the golf course at Mariana Butte. Weather

What Do You Think?

Whether you played Cattail Creek, Mariana Butte or The Olde Course at Loveland, we would like to know your thoughts.
