The roof is a moderately-pitched front gable, covered with brown asphalt composition shingles. Painted gold color rafter ends, with a fascia board, are exposed beneath the widely-overhanging eaves. Painted brown variegated wood shingles appear in the upper gable ends. A brown brick fireplace chimney is on the west-facing wall, and a brown brick chimney is on the ridge.

The façade faces south toward 5th Street. A painted white glass-in-wood-frame door enters near the center of the façade from an open full-width porch that measures 7' N-S x 26' E-W, and that is recessed under the main gable roof. Approached by three concrete steps, the porch features a concrete floor, a painted gold and burgundy open wood railing, and painted gold pedestals and tapered piers. A painted white wood-paneled door, with horizontally-oriented upper sash lights, and covered by a painted green wood storm door, enters the west end of the north-facing wall from a concrete stoop. The home's windows have painted white wood frames, painted burgundy wood surrounds, and metal exterior storm windows. The west-facing wall contains a slightly-projecting rectangular-shaped bay, with three one-over-one double-hung sash windows covered by a metal awning. Two small horizontally-oriented 5-light, ribbon-style windows flank the fireplace chimney, also in the west-facing wall. The landscape features planted grass front and back yards, with narrow side yards along the east and west sides of the house. The backyard is enclosed by an older woven wire fence. A wide grass strip with a deciduous tree is between the public sidewalk and the street curb. A concrete-paved driveway extends from the street along the west side of the house to a single-stall garage. A gravel alley is behind the property to the north.

35. Historical background:
- John W. and Addie M. Cloyd, who are listed at this address in the 1922 Loveland city directory, are this home's earliest known residents. The Cloyds do not appear in subsequent directories, however, as William G. and Caroline F. Wagner next occupied the home, from the mid-1920s to the early 1930s.
- The son of Charles and Lizzie (Pauls) Wagner, William G. Wagner was born in Franklin County, Missouri on June 29, 1873. The daughter of German immigrants Henry and Johanna Faessler, Caroline was also born in Franklin County, Missouri on November 8, 1873. William and Caroline were married in 1893, and lived in St. Louis until moving to Loveland in the years between 1910 and 1920. Five children were born to the couple over a span of more than twenty years. The 1920 U. S. federal census lists the Wagner family as residing on Harrison Avenue in Loveland, including William and Caroline, a daughter, Adele, age 11, an infant son, Arnold, age ten months, and Johanna Faessler, Caroline's widowed mother. Census records and city directories indicate that the Wagners were farmers, perhaps growing sugar beets for the Great Western Sugar Company. They moved from Harrison Avenue to this house on East 5th Street, circa 1924, where they lived until the early 1930s. William Wagner died in Loveland on December 17, 1944 at the age of 71. Caroline passed away on October 10, 1949, at the age of 75. They are interred in the Loveland Burial Park Cemetery.
- 733 E. 5th Street was next owned and occupied by Henry and Minnie Fay, during the early 1930s. The son of George and Emma Fay, Henry was born in Larimer County on June 9, 1892. He grew up in the Fort Collins area, and served in World War I during the late-1910s. On March 15, 1922, he was married to Miss Minnie Willbrandt, who had been born in Kansas in 1886. A daughter named Betty was born to the couple circa 1927. The 1930 U. S. federal census lists the Fay family as living on Logan Avenue in Loveland. At that time, the family consisted of Henry and Minnie, their daughter Betty, and Minnie's unmarried sister, Mary Willbrandt, who worked as a dressmaker. Henry Wagner worked as a foreman for the Great Western Sugar Company until his untimely death, at age forty on September 9, 1932. (The circumstances surrounding his death are unknown). Minnie Wagner continued to live in this house for until shortly before her own death which occurred in 1940, at age 54.

Horace W. and Virginia E. Robinson next occupied this home from the late 1930s through the war years of the early 1940s. Horace worked as an accountant and served as Loveland's city auditor. The Robinsons had a daughter, named Judith, who was born circa 1935.

W. Fred and Lillian Johnson next owned at lived in this home from the late 1940s until the late 1950s. Fred Johnson worked as a salesman at Huston's Men's Shop prior to his retirement circa 1954. He was born on April 28, 1883, and died on April 10, 1957 at the age of 74. Following her husband's death, Lillian Johnson continued to live in this house for a few more years, until moving elsewhere in Loveland, circa 1960. Lillian's maiden name is unknown; however, she was born on April 27, 1863, and died on April 10, 1967. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are interred in Loveland's Burial Park Cemetery.

This home's next long-term owners were the Jake and Edna Weickum family, who were associated with the property from the early 1960s to the late 1980s. The Weickum family included Jake, who worked as a mechanic for the Great Western Sugar Company, Edna, and a son named Randy, born circa 1959.

In more recent years, the property has evidently served primarily as a rental. Larimer County Assessor records indicate it has been owned by Mathew J. Dinsmore since 2008.
